Keywords: dance, trans-nationalism

Flux Aeternus is an experimental dance project which explores the increasing global phenomena of 'trans-nationalism'. Emotions, cultural behaviours and identities flex and shift as the individual moves from one global locality to another. Flux Aeternus questions our individual participation in the human story, the importance of belonging, 'the right to life, liberty and security of person', and our inter-connectedness. As we move forward, we participate in the forging of new stories: his-stories / her-stories, sharing and continually reshaping our collective identities and cultures.
